

CHRISTINE CHEONG

DELIVERY CONSULTANT

A BIT ABOUT ME

I am passionate about partnering with organisations to elevate the performance of both teams and individuals, at the work place and in their personal lives. Self-awareness is a key factor along with building relationships and effective communication. In addition to my facilitation role, I am also a certified Executive Coach. I see my journey in people development as one of continuous learning.

MY VALUES

Curiosity plays a big role in my life's journey, impacting my connection with others and my love of learning. Fairness and empathy shows up on a personal level as well as professionally - they are key elements in my workshops.

BACKGROUND

A positive mindset, a passion for learning and the courage to 'take that first step forward' has resulted in my career accomplishments from designer to communications to people development. I have worked and resided in Hong Kong, Melbourne, Macau, Shanghai, Kuala Lumpur and Dubai and this exposure has been crucial in my ability to be adaptable, adopt a global mindset and achieve professionally within cultural diversified environments.

Prior to establishing myself in the people development field, I specialised in marketing communications in the hospitality industry for over 15 years.
