BACKGROUND

I moved from the UK to Singapore in 2008 as Regional HR Director for BT to lead a large culture change and integration project. I fell in love with the region, people, and environment and now I'm a proud Singaporean citizen.

Since setting up KC Global Consulting in 2014 – I've had the privilege of working with some amazing clients across a broad range of industries including financial services, consultancy, professional services, telecommunications, luxury goods, utilities, education, technology, aviation, insurance, healthcare, government, legal, start-ups and SMEs. I'm passionate about creating space for people to pause and think, which enables me to ignite fires and watch the flames take off!

I've facilitated and coached people in over 20 countries and am comfortable working in small groups, with individuals, and with large groups of 300+. I offer pro-bono facilitation and coaching and also work with an organisation leading women's rights and gender equality in Singapore.

A BIT ABOUT ME

I am an experienced, energetic and enthusiastic facilitator who is naturally curious and creates an open, supportive and challenging learning environment. I have a strong corporate background with over 20 years experience as a HR Director working mainly in UK, Europe and Asia. This commercial background ensures that I bring an innovative and results-focused approach to my delivery. I like to keep things real.

MY VALUES

Love – of family, friends and in the spirit of care and being connected. Courage – to challenge status quo, to push myself and others to grow and realise our potential. Freedom – to work towards creating a world where people are treated fairly with respect and dignity, where we have the freedom to make choices and decisions to live our best lives.
