BACKGROUND

My background is in business. After my MBA and many years solid corporate experience, my passion for people guided me to study NLP and I became a coach and trainer.

When teaching and training, I have a natural talent in making complicated things simple, and I'm good at managing the different needs of each participant so everyone gets the best result.

Apart from Corporate Training, I also teach and coach in the spirituality field.

As an avid traveller, I am passionate about people, culture and languages. I am multilingual, and I have travelled SOLO to over 100 countries in the world.
